THE 1945

Southern Accent

From MUNGER...

We started with orientation at Munger. We had chapel and plays. And we had graduation there.

to the BOOKSTORE

Deacon's Den at 10:30 would make Times Square seem vacated. Pushing for room was a ritual.

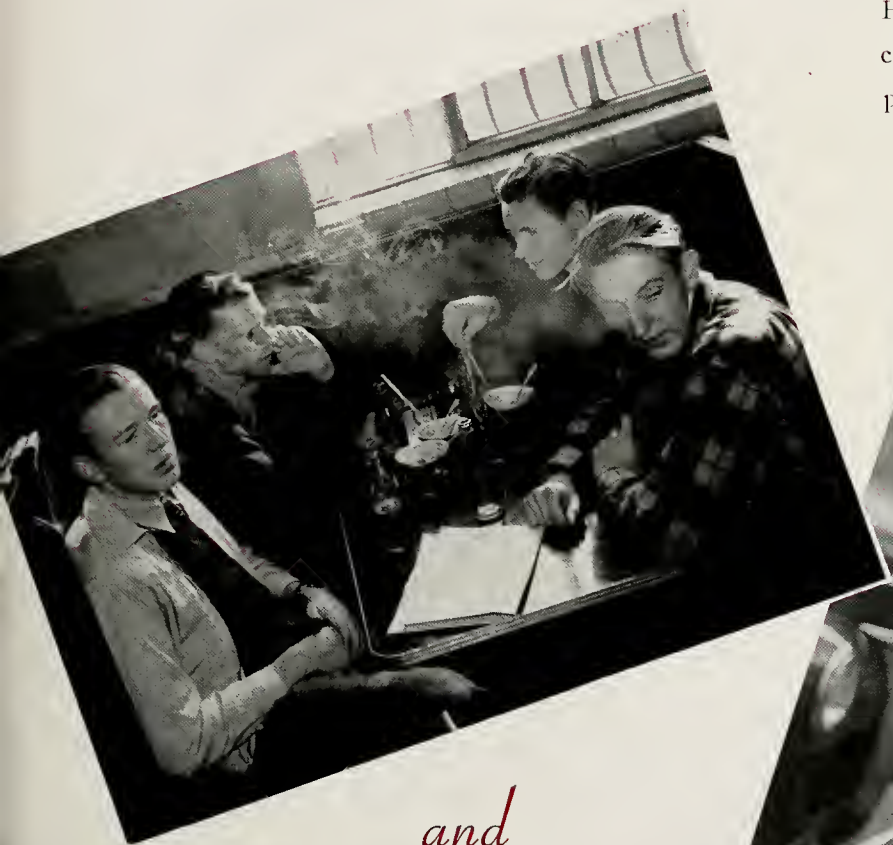

and BRIDGE...

We'll never be able to forget the fanatical sessions in the corner. The only sound was, "Bid".

and BULL SESSIONS...

Holding forth on everything from the current movies to the oldest school of philosophy was almost constitutional.

and ICE CREAM

Mrs. Roper and Miss Connie could make the best between-meal snacks. Irresistible.

then back to CLASSES

Mr. Glenn's pet project sent us back to class, scurrying.

and LABS . .

Everything from a phylum to a compound demonstrated to us the "scientific method".

and LIBRARY CONCENTRATION

Reserve rooms and stacks helped rake in that average, or not.

and CAMPUS??

No, we didn't study much when the grass was green, but we got an education in natural aesthetics.

or PERHAPS the
"CELLAR"

For formal or informal gatherings and discussions, the "Cellar" was the place.

TETE A TETE'S

Did anyone say Southern was not a very gregarious school?

INTIMATE..

Southern is known as Cupid's Hang-out. A glance will tell why.

LARGE

Lolling on the campus in any season is wonderful, with or without the departed soldiers.

and WHEW...

No professor was ever too busy. They must have had a good year too.

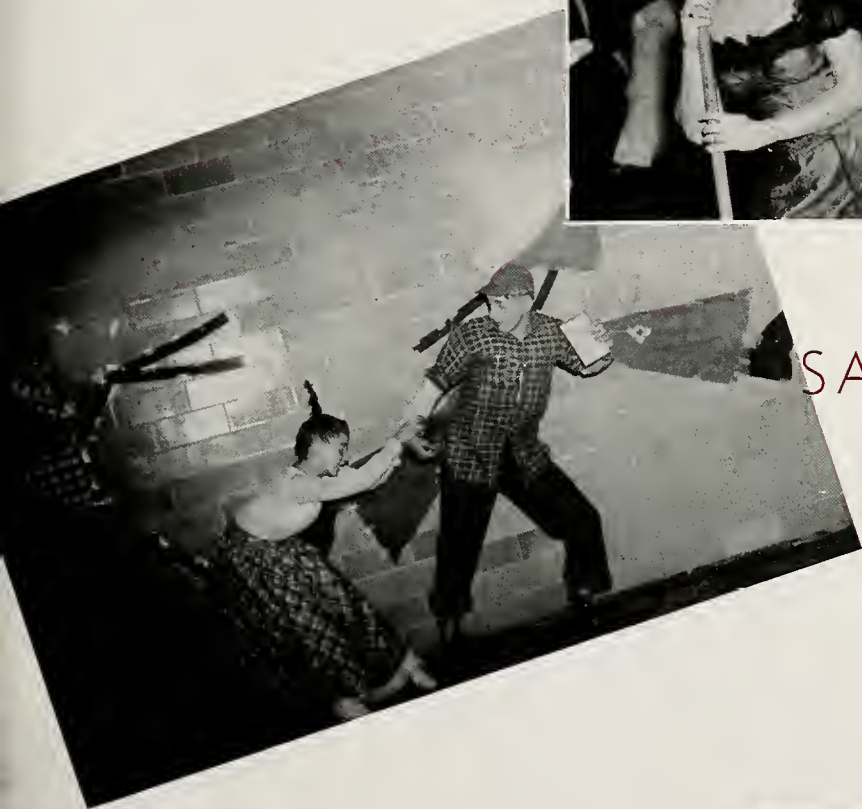

entertained by "The CHOCOLATE SOLDIER"

"come, Come, COME" was heard in every corner for weeks at the end of summer.

HALLOWE'EN

The gym parties were grand, and the costumes were hilarious.

SADIE HAWKINS..

The Upper Division won the contests, but the Lower got Sadie and Li'l Abner.

and then HOME

Southern is beautiful in the twilight and in the Spring. It is sad to leave in the evening, or Summer, or graduation.

DEDICATION...

When once the cannon's roar is ended, the glow on the horizon will be hope instead of fire. The Southern of yesterday, pre-war, saddle shoes, and movie dates is dead, is buried. The collegiate world we know of drafting, air corps and three year dashes, of Frenchmen, parlor dates, and "feminism" will no longer exist in this world of tomorrow. For tomorrow will hold a new Birmingham-Southern; a Southern we cannot know; a Southern we have hopes for. Hopes for a resurrected Southern? Plans for a better one? It is up to you, Martha, and your generation. Because you embody our hopes, we dedicate this book to you.

Our PRESIDENT

Dr. George R. Stuart, better known around town and the campus as "Jack" Stuart, has been a friend to every new and old student on the Hill. He is never too busy to stop for a chat or a talk with even the smallest of us. The reins of the administration are in good hands.

HENRY T. SHANKS

E. SYDNOR OWNBEY
Registrar

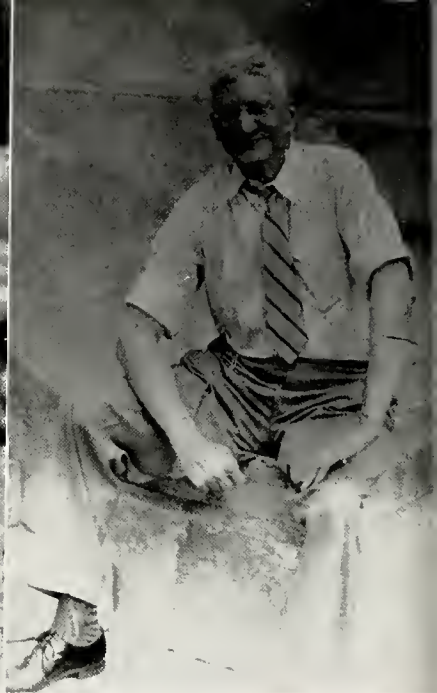

The

ADMINISTRATION

Dean's Lists, bills, grades, and misdemeanors have been capably looked after for the last year by these four. Shanks and Ownbey took time out for history and Shakespeare, while "Red" had dreams of new buildings and Dean Sensabaugh made the sororities "toe the line".

The F A C U L T Y

What a year for the Faculty on the Hilltop! With McWilliams taking over a course in Spanish in the fall besides being head of the department of humanities, Hutson and his Koine and sociology, and Whitehouse jumping from "buenos" to "bon" and "gute", they have really been busy. With some of the men leaving for the service, others were teaching entirely new courses. But all in all, from their point of view, it has been a grand year, fun and excitement in spite of hard work, and no sabbaticals.

The Thursday afternoon Cellar Hour has proved to be somewhat of an arena for matches between departments and professors. "What is literature?" has been a source of constant debating. In spite of Abernethy's admonishing, these boys persisted in arguing about the merits of historical truth in Keat's poem "On First Looking into Chapman's Homer", about the merits of English against history, and objectivity, the scientists, against the world. With a word here and there from an interested student, these professors who were ready visitors to the Coffee Hour were stimulated to witticisms, criticisms, and fitticisms when the moment called for them.

The F A C U L T Y

But far from being too intellectual, the Faculty still put forth competition in softball and certainly put up a brave fight for the volleyball cup, which, according to intramural rules and because they had no room for all the trophies they won, is no longer offered as a reward for professorial athletic prowess.

Condescendingly, the female faculty members played Sensabaugh, Ownbey and their boys, only to discover that "beauty, brains, and brawn" were not enough to counteract the effect of Glenn's serves, Berninghausen's spikes, and Hutson's jokes. Tennis and handball helped the Boys and Girls to keep fit.

As one can see, it has been a good year for the Faculty, and if there were a Dean's List for Faculty members, we would put them all there: Whiting, Reynolds, Wager, Beaudry, Glenn, Frierson, Whitehouse, McNeel, Constans, Parks, Prodoehl, Perry, Moore, Malone, Moore, McWilliams, Hunt, Abernethy, Ownbey, Shanks, Hutson, Keyes, Anderson, Grieves, Evans, Ford, Bathurst, Scott, Cothran, Walston, Townsend, Crawford, Ford, Berninghausen, Lassiter, Gibbs, Burns, Jones, Brower, Whittington, Englebert, Lewis, Davis, Sensabaugh, Sensabaugh, Echols, Gilmer, Powell, Hale, McMahan, Stuart, Walston, Yeilding, Townsend, Whittington, and Wiley.

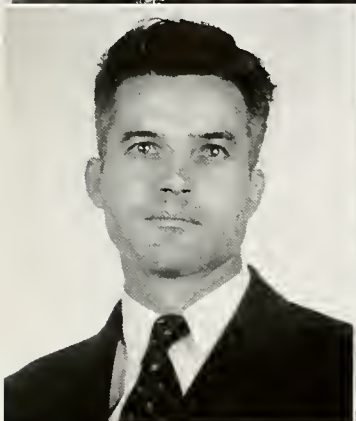

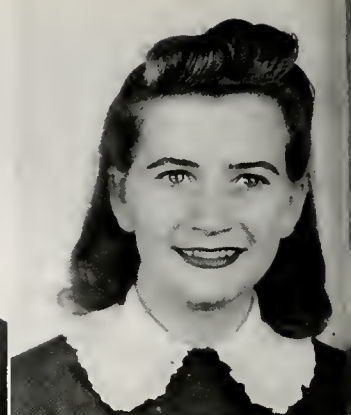

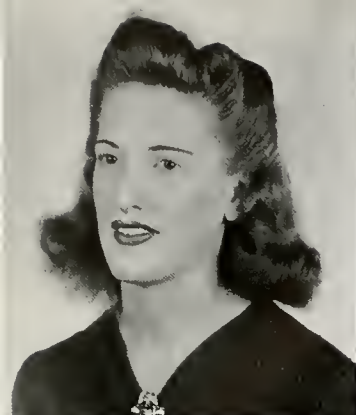

CLASSES . . .

The biggest part of going to college—classes!
This is what we paid our tuition for, whether we cut or not, whether we realized it or not.
Here is the dividing line for Sadie Hawkins, and here is how you get your sheepskin.

ORGANIZATIONS

Outside of class there were clubs. Either you joined or got tapped. This is how you make BW- or BMOC. One fellow wore ten keys. He made it. Another just watched from the side. This is where spirit is made.

THE HONOR COUNCIL

With the advent of the Honor Code, the Honor Council became one of the most important institutions on the Hilltop. However, the school is happy to report that, even with a very effective code, there was little for the Council to do. The Honor of Southern was high, and the Council acted as a body to supervise action on the campus.

The governing body of students was ably supervised by John Graham in the Summer and fall and Betty Davis for winter and spring. A closely knit organization, this group was very effective in working out some of the problems of elections, the point system, allocation of student activities fees, and, all in all, making the '44-'45 year a big success in student government. Dr. Malone had served so nicely in the capacity of faculty adviser that he was invited back once more. The honor was repaid with a wonderful dinner party, venison and other delicacies being an especial treat.

EDITOR, NANCY HUDDLESTON

After struggling with economics, business conditions, and lack of workers all due to the War, Nancy Huddleston, editor of this year's book, was able to get a reasonable facsimile together. What with social, athletic and intellectual endeavors, Huddleston found her college career of three years very full.

Probably the most terrifying conditions possible existed in the face of the annual staff. But, even short-staffed, the hard workers of this year have come through as is evidenced. With determination for deadline making, candle-light, aspirin and coffee were Queen and King of May, which loomed so suddenly on the horizon. But it isn't a lack of effort if you don't like the book. It is here, every corpuscle of it. Bloody Mary never did a harder job than now-Bloodless Nancy did.

BUSINESS MANAGER

JIMMY HOLMQUIST

The "little giant", Jimmy Holmquist, found time to do a jam-up job of ad-getting, acting in the capacity of Business Manager. Holmquist also found the energy to instruct a lab, preside at Delta Sig meetings, whack out a terrific average, become a died-in-the-wool Man About The Campus, with Who's Who and ODK keys dangling.

ACCENT

The

EDITOR

Holding the extraordinary position of ex-Business Manager, Norma Johnson became the first person (not man, but person) to graduate into the editorship of the HTN. Who's Who was none too high and Mortar Board also fell at her feet. The up and coming journalist, Norma also could be found in Bookstore, Gym, Andrews Hall, and most anywhere news could be discovered or uncovered, according to the page.

BUSINESS MANAGER

Irene Hunvald found little competition, in fact none, to oppose her as BM of the HTN. Being the first person at Southern to attain to a major office in her freshman year, Irene has importance on the campus. Knocking out an average high enough for Alpha Lambda Delta, she must only wait while glory rolls in.

The Hilltop News office was a bevy of beauty, brains and all but no brawn as the feminine gender took over. With little money, little news, and lots of talent, the paper had a successful year in spite of adversaries. Meeting dead-lines, printers and bill collectors became a minor matter as news was hunted down by the crews. It wasn't a big year as far as production goes, but it was a good year.

The choir has been more active in the last year than in recent years. Under capable leadership, baritones, basses, tenors, altos, and sopranos, have developed into a harmonious whole. Without doubt the college choir has added a cultural atmosphere to the campus. The highlight of the year was the Christmas concert in Munger auditorium, featuring the choir as a whole, the ensemble, and four soloists. Immediately afterwards they joined the McCoy choir for a Christmas service. Winter found new red robes, a trip to Jasper, and a contingent of lovely voices. "Battle Hymn of the Republic", complete with bass hallelujahs, was a special favorite in convocation. It was a grand year headlining interest and success. The most important event was singing at Lucie Ford's wedding at McCoy.

Andrews HALL

When the girls took over Andrews Hall, there was a lot of pleasant surprise, and alumni returning were amazed. But the girls really made the GI into GLamour. Under the capable guidance of Mrs. Booker and Mrs. Sherrod, the girls organized, had their own little government under Mrs. Sensabaugh, and opened the house with a terrific tea, at which one could scrutinize the work done by the girls with the aid of Annie Mae and Mary.

Although handicapped by the scarcity of men, ODK has carried on through the year, holding regular meetings from time to time, tapping new members in the fall quarter, and publishing, again, the college directory of students and faculty for the good of the entire school.

In addition to two student members, Bill Calhoun and Charles Fite, who were initiated during the fall quarter, Dr Douglas L. Hunt was added to the roll as a faculty member and Hugh Abernethy of Starlight Opera fame became an alumni member.

Recognizing Leadership, Scholarship and Service

M O R T A R B O A R D

Having as its purpose recognition of scholarship, leadership and service, Mortar Board tapped eight outstanding junior girls in the fall. Plans for the spring loomed big on the calendar as a tea for sophomore Einsteinettes was talked of. For the first time in the history of this chapter, tapping was held twice during the year. Natalie Smith took over the gavel after Dorothy Cox retired.

The professional educational fraternity on the campus, KDE, found time for the social aspects of an education by collaborating with their brother fraternity, Kappa Phi Kappa, in a gigantic party at the opening of the '44 season. The carefully planned programs of the year, which were the responsibility of "Duffey", were centered around the crucial needs of present-day society. Mrs. Moore guided the group through the year with her very capable leadership.

The Kappa Phi Kappa local ranked as the most active chapter in the United States last year, they boast deservedly. The male future educators met fortnightly for sessions of teacher talk, heard guest speakers discuss varying phases of education, partied with their feminine counterparts, the KDE's.

Kappa Phi Kappa's led in other fields, too, with generously-sprinkled ODK's, Who's Who's, and BMOC's-at-large. They appeared in musical circles, athletic rounds, religious forays, all with equal aplomb.

"Now, Dr. Bathurst, what do you think about this situation?"

Dr. Bathurst, faculty advisor for the Psychology honorary fraternity could be found answering such questions all through the day. When Dr. Bathurst was in hiding, his stand-in, Betty Davis, would greet you with a smile and make preparations for Pi Delta Psi's next meeting. Bill Calhoun, the keeper of the currency, could always back up the many ideas for pleasure and fun with his "material blessings". With all the social activities of this organization, the members displayed such an enthusiastic interest in the club that it proved one of the most vital elements on the Hill.

Although participation was limited, the orchestra maintained its place as an integral part of the campus. One of its activities was aiding in the Christmas concert. Under the able direction of Mr. Grieves the winter concert in convocation proved to be one of the most fascinating programs. Sadie Hawkins was a big success with the aid of the orchestra, under the direction of Bubs (B. O.) Owen. The different style of selection was remarkable. Marked by preludes and postludes, the orchestra finished the year in the right key.

Mu Alpha opened the musical season at Southern with a concert introducing some of their most accomplished students. An open house and tea followed this first recital. What with food and good music Mu Alpha was off to a gala start. Next on the musical calendar was the solo recital featuring Cleveland Hunt. Especially appealing was the program starring the three Horne sisters; Edna, Ruth, and Esther. The serene beauty of this program was appreciated by all lovers of music on the Hill. The brilliance and technique which Jack Nesmith displayed in his concert certainly proved to the students at Southern that the campus is brimming with accomplishments in the musical world.

Monomials, binomials, trinomials! The group who went to bed every night saying the multiplication tables were those who belonged to the honorary math fraternity, you can be sure of that. "Math is exactly like learning a foreign language", proclaims a member of the math department. If this be the case, the numerical language flourished with such intellects as Betty McMath and Lois Parsons spreading their knowledge from Dr. Moore's office to the Bookstore. Dr. Moore, as faculty advisor, was inspiration for the good work which this organization accomplished this year.

The Hilltop's own Red Cross unit completed a busy year of war work at the advent of 1945 with the importance of the campus unit being realized by downtown Jefferson County headquarters as the unit was given a college advisor to serve as headquarter's representative.

Red Cross volunteers, composed of any interested women students, continued giving valuable hours as Nurse's Aides at the Jefferson Hospital, making the lives of officers and men merrier with coffee and donuts at the train stations and Army Air Base, thus proved the Canteen Corps members' duties. Production soared as knitters piled up beanie headgear for the rehabilitation work among children in the reoccupied countries of Europe.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

Exercising the right of freedom of assembly, future collaborators of world peace met to discuss better international relations, post-war plans, and service in foreign countries. Under the tutelage of Sensabaugh, the subject under discussion was Brazil and the rest of the world; under Shanks, it was the South and the other half of the world and under Parks, it was Tennessee and the minor 47 states.

Other important discussions were on "North African Life" by ex-Hilltop professor Charles D. Matthews, and "Ecuador" by Ex-Hilltopper Pittman.

Test-tubes! Bunsen burners! Fumes! Simpson had all of them, and more. Thus with atmosphere, the number one fist-pounder calls to order the bi-monthly meetings of this national honorary chemical fraternity. Having joint meetings with the American Chemical Society, this group has many lectures on applied chemistry, coupled with movies. This organization has the reputation for at least two social parties a year. Being an old organization, Theta Chi Delta has tradition in abundance.

CHI NU TAU

From those hard working gals who spend all their afternoons in a smelly lab, Chi Nu Tau draws its members. These women have all the other lasses on the campus standing in awe at their accomplishments. This group believes in presenting programs which give vital information concerning the field in which they are specializing.

The principal theme for the year was the Introduction to Technician's work. The most interesting methods were used to develop the theme such as a talk by a student technician, a lecture by a doctor and a visit to a hospital. For Chi Nu Tau, this has been a year of investigation and fun!

Keeping in line with the slogan, "To foster the Classics", Pi Chapter of Eta Sigma Phi listened to Dr. John A. Simpson speak on philology. A Christmas party highlighted with classical rhymes to accompany gifts, by an explanation of the Saturnalia, by a contest that taxed the members' knowledge of the Greeks and Romans—all this, plus refreshments prepared by Miss Crawford, brought the zeal and spirit of the fraternity to an unequal level.

The Chapter gained strength in January by adding to its ranks the new Professor of classics, Dr. Gordon M. Keyes, who by the very sound of his name calls forth memories of past years when Dr. D. M. Key so aptly headed the classics department and was advisor of Eta Sigma Phi. Recognition must be given to Miss Marian Crawford who, besides preparing refreshments, has aided the chapter in innumerable ways.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

Nothing ever happens! Then, all of a sudden, LOVE hits the blase ATO's, and that love was in the form of those female fascinators, the luckiest AOPi's. Sam Smith, now active in the U. N. Navy, started the fad, by pinning one of the good sisters (Noel). Overnight, we no longer think of individuals; instead, we have such pairs as Evans-Woodson, Lyle-Shoemaker, and Crowe-AOPi. Amazing, don't you think!

So that the public will not think of these brothers as merely play-boys, we must turn to the serious side of their college careers. Frederic Evans maintained the honor of the ATO's by serving on the Honor Council. Evans, because of his absorption in Pi Delta Psi and his job as secretary in International Relations, was a busy man as he zoomed back and forth across the Quadrangle.

Jack Crowe and Shuford Swift gave that certain musical atmosphere to their brothers. All of the fellowship went in together and revealed their knack for interior decorating by turning Goon Castle into the unique Bedside Manor.

That amiable fellow, Paul Lyle, leader in ODK, member of Inter-Fraternity Council, and general BMOC left his buddies for higher learning at the University of Wisconsin. Because of this parting, the ATO's were afforded other excuses for their swell parties. ON WISCONSIN! But, still there are those guys who are keeping the frat going . . . and keeping it going in a big way.

DELTA SIGMA PHI

The Delta Sigs were slight but mighty this year, with patriotism and graduation depleting their number to four hardy perennials. Jimmy Holmquist held the reins and to his "gee-haw", members Lawrence (that's Pete) Ford, George Simmons, and Jack Crawford gee-ed and haw-ed.

Lawrence (That's Pete) of the red hair and but definite opinions, feared not to tell same to fellow Executive Councillors, and wrote voluminous letters to the editor of the HTN, bombasting generously whatever aroused his Irish ire. Lawrence (that's Pete) gleamed brightly in history classes, showed promise of a professorial career.

Holmquist won undisputed acclaim as the smallest of the Biggest BMOC's, heading the brethren in addition to business managing for the Accent, lab assisting in Simpson, vice presiding over ODK, treasuring for the Executive Council, heading Theta Chi Delta, to mention a modest few. Jimmy also managed to keep up the Dean's List, with his 2.4-plus averages.

George Simmons, frosh, is another history fiend, and showed his undisputing skill in a panel discussion of the national election last summer.

Moving to new headquarters in Bedside Manor in the fall quarter, the Delta Sig's were centered at-campus, set for an active year fully fulfilled.

Despite intramural defeat the Knights of KA's exemplified the same spirit that in the past led to victory. They were good enough to have two men, Cleveland and pledge Thornton placed on the All Star team. In the first ten athletes were several KA's.

Though deficient in athletic victories, they were far from being so in other departments of campus life. "Dr. Zero" Graham and Rapid Cleveland held many major posts on the Hill, including "Who's Who." Zero successfully piloted the student body through two quarters, while Cleveland presided over ODK (Graham is also a member) and business managed the Choir. Cleveland continued his second year as head-knocker of Eta Sigma Phi, as a member of Kappa Phi Kappa, and was baseball manager. Graham participated in Kappa Phi Kappa, Theta Sigma Lambda, and Delta Phi Alpha of which he was president.

"Cucumber" Cannon held membership in several professional and honorary fraternities and Executive Council. Shore the "Husky", until called by the Merchant Marines in December, aided in the reinstatement of the Toreadores Club, was elected Secretary of Y.M.C.A. and along with Graham was on the Interfraternity Council.

Socially speaking, they threw a quiet Christmas banquet, a "night club" party at the house, and enjoyed a joint dance-treasure hunt affair. Rush parties and informal gatherings at the house rounded out a full year socially. Altogether it was a great year.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

The Pi Kappa Alpha's, believe it or not, not only kept their chapter but increased it! Knocking off honors in class as well as on the football field, they beat a path to glory. Their strong, silent leader. Joe Neal Blair, led his gang by finding a place for himself in Who's Who, ODK, YMCA and Choir. The famous Jack White killed the ladies, his opponents on the football field, and all potential Lil' Abners on Sadie Hawkins Day.

With all their brawn and brains, they still found time to develop their social life with the "ladies" from Andrews Hall. They moved their "Palace of Pleasure". during the year, to the empty Beta House. They crowned this abode "Pike's Peak".

If you heard strains of "corn" as well as classical drifting from the cafeteria, you could make sure the Pikes were getting in tune to knock out more honors in the orchestra (E. G. Sims) or were adding their sharp intellect to Kappa Phi Kappa.

About the cutest fellow on the campus, ask anyone was that Pinkie Pianist, Jack Nesmith! Short held forth at Lab and the bridge table, and Harper just held forth!

We just happened to remember that, with all their gay charm, they still had a voice in the government of the campus with those shoutin' Patrick Henrys, Ralph Tanner, Jack White, and Harold Walker holding a seat in the Executive Council.

Lights! Action! Camera! We are focusing on Jimmy Brittain, the boy who warbles continually as well as helping Miss Davis in Rhythms Class. Another good year.

SAE's have been "in things"; Jimmy Hill in bridge games, Bill Walton in love, Howard James in the cafeteria (confiscating money), and George Cochran in Andrew's parlors (swell idea).

More seriously, President Cochran was elected to Delta Phi Alpha and Kappa Phi Kappa. The Interfraternity Council made him its president. Cochran helped with the Sadie Hawkins festivities.

Jimmy Hill was a Physics Lab instructor. He had charge of the bonfire on the night of Sadie Hawkins. Also Jimmy was treasurer at the quiet and dignified Bedside Manor.

Howard James was assistant to the coach, lifeguard, and sports editor of the Hilltop News.

Bill Walton ranked four in the intramural point system. He grabbed many a touchdown pass on the football field. He says, however, he'd rather play baseball than eat.

SAE's hated to see active Elmore Scott and pledge Joe Hammock leave for the navy. They were scholastic men but also imbibed in baseball the summer they were here.

Pledge Albert (Shorty) Parker has taken his typewriter into the navy with him. Coach Battle will agree. I think, that they have a worker.

Homer Hurd begs that we not forget him even though he's wearing a different sort of bow tie. Peck Whitcomb says it's very dull where he is.

SAE's are proud of their boys like George Simpson who have shown so much valor on the battlefield and for the M.D. aspirants Harris, White, Herren, Yoe, and Shropshire.

With election returns falling in their favor, with a full social schedule, with a very favorable scholastic rating, and with three beauties to boast of in the beauty section of the Annual, The Alpha Chi's have been slightly busy.

Come election time, and there comes the Alpha Chi's en masse. With an aptitude for shrewd politicking, but supporting amiable candidates, the Alpha Chis put Betty Kessler, Joan Moore, Jo Anne Culp, and Maxine Berthon on the Executive Council. And many another race was decided by this solid block.

With Berthon parleying with her compatriot, Obenchain gavel weilding Entre Amigos, and Kess with her cheerful "Guten 'Tag" they were not minus in culture. Berthon also swings a wicked bow, assisted by Wachman on the keys. Reeve and Boteler add the vocal touch.

And now to brawn. Dead-eye Culp and center-line Reeve led the team in basketball, and Limber-longer Stearnes combined acrobatics and shin-skinning to put the team well to the fore.

With BWOCism running rampant, the AOPi's were ready for the home stretch of 1945. President Thelma Noel also managed to be on the Honor Council, and helped to run Andrews Hall. Little sister Carolyn Noel got pinned. Executive Council representative was Loretta Graves, who really made the War Bonds go off well.

The gang ran away with many athletics. Johnson and Ahrens made practically every all-star team, and spiked enough volleyballs to cinch the cup. Badminton was half theirs. Wingfield played a snappy guard, and biologized most everything on campus. Ahrens presided at KDE and B. M. Woods grabbed a KA pin, just to show that the girls can do more than ripple their muscles.

Hawkins was on the HTN staff, joked her way through many events, and was a stalwart in the sisterhood. Nan Woodson told fortunes, was a lab assistant, and got nicknamed "Countess". "Boo" Stephenson did the "general coffers fill", and supported all campus activities nobly.

Of course, we almost forget the "pride" of the group. Robinski pledged this past Fall and added her clever wit, and contagious laughter. Jane also worked for HTN and was chairman of the Red Cross. Betty Margaret Woods found herself in the Beauty Section. Zelda Thompson was the big science "brain" of the outfit and practically rebuilt the chemistry lab.

GAMMA PHI BETA

Gamma Phi Beta swept jauntily through 1944 and greeted '45 with partying and resolving, in the good old GPB manner. Dean's Lister Martha Owen Ingram presided o'er the sistren until her graduation in December, when Mary Virginia Stallworth moved forward from the vice-president's chair to be the sorority's guiding light.

Gamma Phi's teaed, dined, lunched, had room parties, and scored high with a Christmas party with dates. They waxed athletic to enter the intramural fray; Ruth Huffman and Katherine Davis were in the beauty parade; high-pointers Atkinson, Ingram, and scholarship winner Katharine Wyatt gave intellectual stimulus to the group. Gloria Norman spouted Spanish to put her sisters in the shade, and Katherine Thomas leaped high to cop the dancing contest prize Sadie Hawkins Day. Mary Lou Vann, petite blonde joy of the Phys. Ed. department, was on the planning committee for the Hawkins fete, and sister Dot one-two-three'd in rhythms classes.

KAPPA DELTA

With a combined force of athletic ability, intellectual integrity, social activity, and bountiful beauty, the KD's again passed a successful year mark. Under "Mo" Owen, gavel pounder, the Kappa Deltas received athletic cups and scholastic honors hand in hand. "Mo" was the guiding light of the Intramural Board, listed in Who's Who, and was in the top bracket of the ten high point women.

Also listed in Who's Who, tapped by Mortar Board, and receiving recognition from Dean Shanks were Huddleston and Scruggs. The Annual in its present form comes to you through courtesy of Huddleston, in between studies and athletic feats. Scruggs served on the Cellar Committee, along with Dr. Ab and "Miss Holland", while Rinie Miller took charge of the Cellar eight out of 24 hours.

The names of Brent, B. Ogletree and "Mandy" Smith also found their way to the Dean's List, and also the roster of Alpha Lambda Delta, with the latter two dividing honors in the executive offices. Brent, with camera in one hand, and pad and pencil in t'other, helped to cover the Hilltop's activities from all angles.

Glamour girl Peeples has served her term, and willingly deserted the Bookstore and campus, carrying with her the title of "Miss Southern Accent". Blond, petit and also a KD bicep, Caroline Estes graced the book store, polygot table, the gym, AND the beauty section.

"Ogle" Ogletree (pahdon French accent) made the athletic presentations in convocation monotonous, she took so many.

Syncopating with the chapter were "Diamond Pike" Preston, "Sister Face" Benefield, "Gym Assistant" Norton, "Spring is Here" Boatner and "Conservatory" Murchison. Returning as reinforcements were "Madam" Butler and Wade. Rea, Pippen. Solomon, and Kelly joined the ranks. Customary KD gusto, A Lovely Year.

The Pi Phi's once more managed to do about everything in school. Martha Sebree found time from her job of president to be a member of Executive Council, Mortar Board, and Entre Amigos. She was listed in Who's Who, was an Accent Beauty and helped with Sadie Hawkins Day.

Betty Davis was a member of the Honor Council when elected president of the student body. She was a "motor boat", listed in Who's Who, presided for Pi Delta Psi, helped ably with Red Cross and Sadie Hawkins. Brain Gallagher proved to be the athletic contribution. She was on many all-star teams, was a sports manager, member of Red Cross, Chi Nu Tau, and ably led the girls to many athletic wins.

But there were more than a few Pi Phi's taking part at Southern. In the Fall, Rogers, Harris and Akeroyd were tapped by Mortar Board. Rogers sought advertising for both publications. Harris was a big gun in YWCA, and Akeroyd whacked out consistent good grades. Graduation leaves the archives in good hands.

THETA UPSILON

Theta Upsilon brought the 1945 campaign to a big climax. Being represented in practically every organization on the campus, the girls really made themselves known, high up on the Hilltop. Jane Crissinger not only presided at meetings of the sorority, but did the same for the Pan-Hellenic Council. She played violin for the Orchestra, was a three year member of Mu Alpha, was on the Sadie Hawkins committee, participated in Amazons, YMCA, and Le Cercle Francais. Jane proved herself to be a capable executive, and a real BWOC.

Margaret Griffith took over when Jane graduated and did a fine job the rest of the year. She was a big member of Kappa Delta Epsilon, and YWCA, along with her fraternal duties. Virginia Ray Jewell corresponded and recorded as ably as she managed to be every place at once on the campus. Treasurer Mary Eleanor Hawkins financed all the parties, was a member of the Choir and YWCA.

The girls, as a whole, also showed themselves to be active campusites. Jean Rice represented the girls at Andrews Hall and along with Jane Ann Bartee knitted, canteened and were very active in all patriotic endeavors. Jean Rice also took part in Chi Sigma Phi. Music major LaVerne Chaple was a member of the Choir, and showed herself on Munger stage many times.

Blanche Berry was about the most active girl on the campus. Graduating from Hilltop News ranks, Blanche took over Hilltop publicity in The Post. Her feature stories highlighted Southern publicity. Blanche was the Theta U War Bond representative, too.

All in all, the girls have made a successful year, with efforts concentrated on making this a gala year in the sorority annals and the school history.

ZETA TAU ALPHA.

Piloted by President Louise Irving, the Zetas came home with their share of honors. Beauty and Brains Ruth Beene, co-chairman of the War Bond Breakfast, executive council, Vice President of Pi Delta Psi, Mortar Board, was chased across the stage in "The Chocolate Soldier" and given a part in the workshop's production. Sue Ambler Smith, Assistant Editor of the Annual, showed an artistic side when she appeared in Overtures, and was one of our several representatives in the choir's Christmas Concert, the others being Gloria Goodall, Ruth Virginia Anderson, Jean Sellers, and Ann Ross was the only member of Tau Kappa Alpha for a whole quarter.

Zetas everywhere. Jean Cochran was Sec. of the Y.W.C.A.; Mary Grey Ellis was secretary-treasurer of Entre Amigos, on Executive Council, vice-president of the Red Cross, and joined the WACS. Jo Miller was elected program producer for Entre Amigos, and was a member of Alpha Lambda Delta. Ann English was tapped by Chi Nu Tau, is President of Theta Sigma Lambda; and Doris Miller was tapped by Theta Chi Delta. Sarah Fisch is treasurer of Theta Sigma Lambda.

Fall Pledges Agnes Payne and Jean Sellers appear in the beauty section with Ruth Beene. Ruth Virginia Anderson was in the Christmas Concert and was elected Sec.-Treas. of Freshman Commission.

The pride of Z.T.A., our sports record, and Imogene Duffy are synonymous. Duffy was the Badminton champion; Duffy and Ruth Lee Martin came in second in tennis doubles; Duffy said, "Up-over!" a sufficient number of times to guide us to second place in the Volleyball tournament. Duffy graduated but her assistant, Franke didn't. Jean looks like terrific sports.

The calendar did not lack social events. The Zetas have become attached to the get-togethers (some call them hen parties), rivaled only by the traditional dinners. The nine members in the Canteen Corps and four in Nurses Aide helped them score a direct hit for the year.

Lots of Zeta Tau Mammias found their Zeta Tau men!

INTRAMURALS

Without Battle and Turner, the Intramural Program moved along smoothly and rapidly regardless. Sponsoring athletics, gym parties and gym fun, Englebert, Lewis, and Davis, had a super year back in the New! Gymnasium.

INTRAMURALS

This year the Intramural Program not only kept at the fast clip it had maintained, but shifted into high gear. From the word "Go", the gym was constantly in use. Gym seems strange, after the long time we haven't used it as we would like. But it didn't take long to get back that old familiar feeling of walking in for a swim or a little table tennis. It is good to say gym instead of barracks. And it is getting better each day.

As well as athletics, there were parties in the gymnasium.

Costumes and frolicing

Food, with the emphasis on lots of fun

The rhythms class gaily took over in the afternoon

One of the main reasons that this has been a very successful year as far as Intramurals is concerned is because this program has been under such able direction. Coach Englebert, Miss Lewis and Miss Davis have been so active and interested that there was bound to be success. These three have done everything in their power to interest the students in athletics and to see to the possibility of participation. The result speaks for itself.

Girls' ATHLETICS...

There were eight teams in the tournaments this year. There were eight tournaments. This automatically indicates a busy year for the Board. Senior manager was Anne Owen, who capably aided and directed each of the sports managers. Junior Manager was Dorothy Johnson, who was always on hand to play or help supervise. The Board is composed of a representative of each team, the two managers and Miss Lewis. It was their responsibility, and they did the thinking which was responsible for the well-balanced year, and the grand participation.

The tennis tournament started things and Ogle-tree and Owen grabbed the medals for doubles champs. Duffey and Martin were second.

Volleyball Champs—

Keep your eyes on the birdie. It's a smash!

Free "frow" for Franke!

FUN IN THE

Duffey won badminton from Ogletree, and the AOPi's were victors at volleyball. When Reeve started ringing baskets from the center line, everyone knew that the Alpha Chi's were a real challenge in basketball. They proved too great a challenge.

GYM

Huddleston copped honors in table tennis from Preston, and the KD's took the lead for Miss Victory. But the whole year was so brimmed with competition that the final whistle decided every contest.

MEN'S SPORTS ON THE

Although more limited in number than the girls, the Southern boys had a terrific year. Coach Englebert organized his tournaments around four teams: Independents, Greeks, PiKA's and KA's. Albert Griffith was Senior Manager and helped to get and keep things going. Jack Fealy, the red-head, was Associate Manager and gave the Board a lot of valuable service. Each team had a member on the Intramural Board. There was no lack of activity.

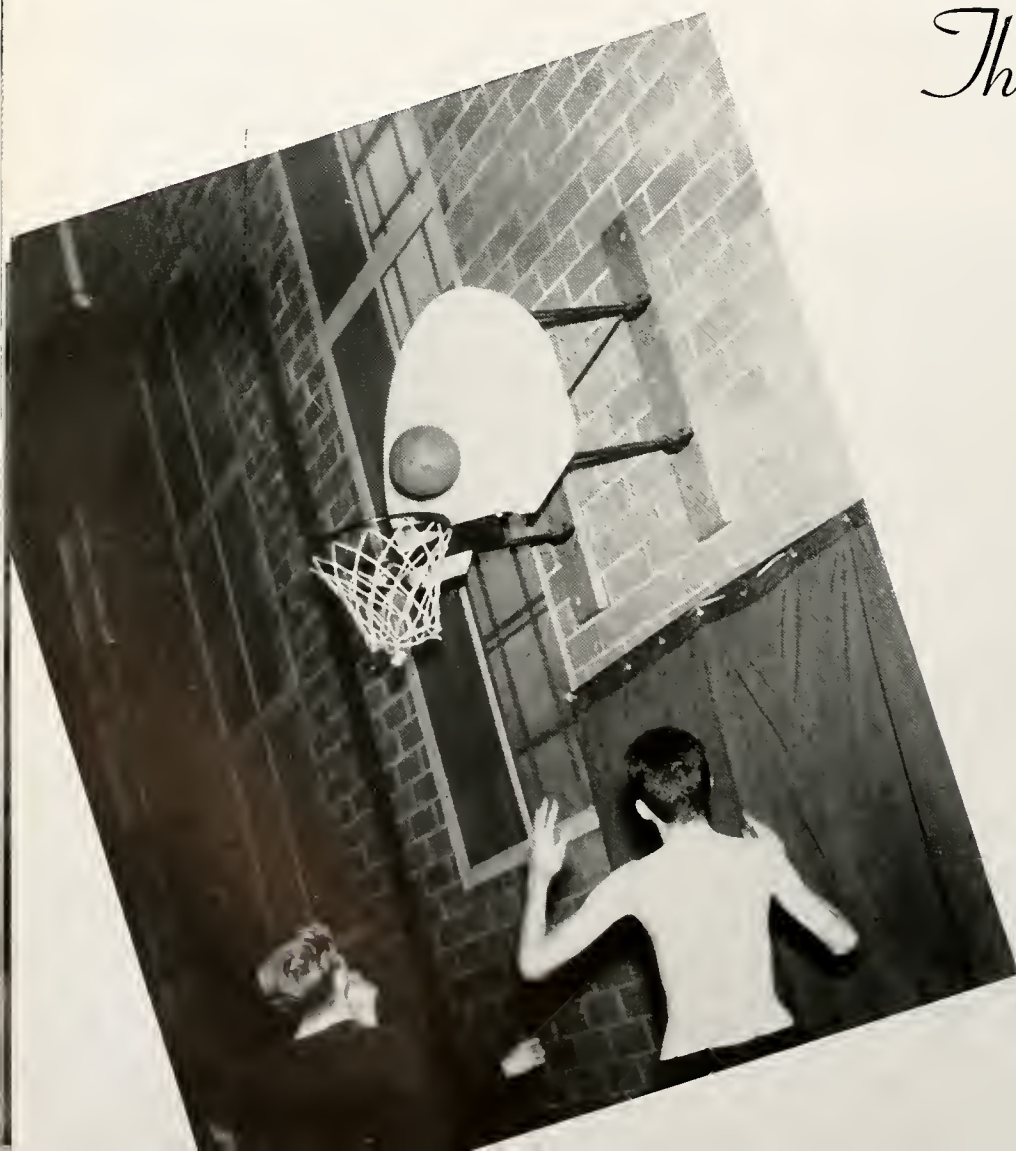

HILLTOP

When football was near the end of its reign, the Independents defeated the Greeks on Sadie Hawkins Day in a very exciting game. Volleyball fell into the hands of PiKA, with White as the star. Mash beat out a victory in badminton, and Griffith came second. The basketball season ended with the Independents as winners. Salemi and Mazer sparked the boys to victory. Jacobs decided the Horse-shoe Tournament.

The STAR

Joiner took Handball, and the table tennis stars tried to get enough balls to have a tournament.

Looking back, there were none who so out-shined everyone else as to be spectacular. Southern had a lot of good male athletes. Under the existing conditions, it was an amazingly successful year.

PARADE of 1945

SNAPSHOTS

Not all of Southern can be wrapped up in a little category. A lot has to be seen, taken out and sampled, played with. There is a lot of college which goes on after hours, and after sun-down. We have tried to catch a little of this.
